

SCLA Student Award Nomination

The SCLA Student Award recognizes a student member who demonstrates dedication to the profession, is actively engaged in professional development, and is making important or innovative contributions to the field of Librarianship during their course of study.

Included in this award is a one year paid membership to the South Carolina Library Association.

This award will be presented at the annual SCLA Conference to a deserving nominee that meets the following criteria:

- Must be a full-time or part-time graduate student working towards the completion of their MLIS OR an undergraduate student majoring or minoring in library science
- Is currently employed by, volunteering, or interning at a South Carolina library
- Nominees must be current members of SCLA. Individuals may nominate themselves or be nominated by others.

Deadline for award nominations is September 16, 2022.
